

New York Stock Market

New York, January 13.—The course of today's market sent prices upward to a material degree, and there was a nearer approach to genuine support than has been seen on any recent day. In the absence of favorable developments, the sustained strength to a broadening of the demand. No evidence of outside support developed, however, and the dullness which followed the first hour of trading indicated that the market was still a narrow one. It closed firm, trading was the feature, and more than recovered its semi-annual 2 per cent. dividend. United States Steel was exclusively traded in from the outset at steadily advancing prices, and Canadian Pacific registered a further very substantial gain, with betterment in such of its allied properties as Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, St. Louis and Wisconsin Central. Another feature of the day was the strength of the Gould stocks, led by Missouri Pacific. Undoubtedly the better tone of the market had a bearing on the fact that the Gould family will bring long retire from active management and that succession will rest with other powerful interests, who are known to have acquired very substantial holdings in some of the Gould lines. Southern Railway shares were again fairly active, and the metal stocks were stronger on probability of heavy copper exports. The only news bearing on general trade conditions dealt with the placing of a large order for equipment by the Pennsylvania Railroad and the proposed meeting of New England cotton manufacturers to consider a limitation of production. A further analysis of our cotton exports proves that the value of last year's shipments was the greatest in the history of the country, exceeding by over $60,000,000 all previous records.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $1,202,000. Total sales of stocks were $60,700 shares.
